PRUITT ESCAPES WITHOUT INJURY

Says Engineer Made Flying Switch in C. H. & D. Yards and Struck His Wagon.

HORSE WAS BOWLED OVER

Driver Jumped When he Saw the Car Coming—Wheel Broken Into Small Pieces.

James Pruitt, who is employed by the Pinnell & Tompkins Lumber Co., was the victim of an accident this morning in which he remarkably escaped without any serious injury. The wagon which he drives was considerably damaged, the horse knocked down, and the harness torn up. Pruitt is thanking his lucky stars that he did not draw a broken neck out of the fracas.

He was in the C., H. & D. yards loading lumber when the accident happened in less time than the ordinary person could bat his eye. Pruitt says that the engineer on the switch engine made a flying switch his way and before he knew it the car had hit his wagon, bowling the horse over like a ten pin and mashing one wheel of the wagon into kindling wood.

Pruitt jumped just in time, too. He saw the car coming at rapid speed and leaped just in time to escape being thrown off when the car hit the wagon. The horse was not touched by the car, but the force of the blow which knocked the wagon over took the horse with it. The animal did not get a scratch, but the harness was badly damaged.

The wagon was not on the track, according to Pruitt, but was just near enough for the car to strike it. Had the outfit been setting across the switch it is very probable that the man and horse would have both been killed.

EDICT FOR WOMEN.

It has been officially decreed that all persons like to have an unobstructed view of what they are trying to see.

In the course of this seeing at many and different times certain persons have found that certain obstructions greatly hindered, or even blotted out their view of what they were trying to see. This said nuisance is especially noticeable at the following places, to-wit: Churches, five cent shows and most public meetings.

In consequence of these said nuisances and said objections, the order of General Enjoyment does hereby decree that all women wearing large hats do remove them during the progress of the service or entertainment. And furthermore be it decreed that the judge of whether the hat is large shall be the persons sitting immediately behind the woman.

This decree shall be in effect on and after the day of its publication.

Signed,
Generalissimo of the Order of General Enjoyment.

THANKS!

FEAST TOMORROW NIGHT

Brotherhood of Christian Church Will Discuss Live Topic.

The Brotherhood of the Main Street Christian church is making big plans for the first banquet of the year at the church tomorrow night. A sumptuous feast will be spread and after the dinner the first of a series of live topics will be discussed. The members will talk on street improvement tomorrow night and the subject will be discussed from many different standpoints.

SOLOS PLEASE AT BAPTEST REVIVAL

Miss Harriet Gest of Connersville to Assist in Special Services For Few Nights.

EVANGELIST'S STRONG SERMON

Miss Harriet Gest and a number of friends from Connersville were at the meeting at the First Baptist church last night. Miss Gest is a vocalist of great brilliancy and power, and delighted the people last night with her charming songs. She has been engaged for several nights for the meetings, and will add much to the attractiveness and efficiency of the services. People are urged to hear her sing tonight.

Mr. Bell's sermon last night was one of great power and clearness and made a deep impression on the hearers. He is proving himself to be a preacher of a high order. The church believes he should have the hearing of all the people of Rushville. With such preaching as Mr. Bell is doing and such singing as Miss Gest will provide, the pastor thinks people should attend these meetings in large numbers.

A meeting for prayer and conference will be held in the front room of the church at 7 o'clock. All are invited to be there. Regular service at 7:30.

PLAINTIFFS SCORE VICTORY IN CASE

Judge Sparks Grants a Temporary Restraining Order in Mays School Suit.

WILL NOT STOP CONSTRUCTION

Judge Will Sparks returned a decision in the Mays school case last night, granting a temporary restraining order to the plaintiffs until further order of the court. According to attorneys the force of the order will tie up all paying out of money, but will not necessarily stop the work on the building. A temporary restraining order was refused the plaintiffs only a short time ago on the grounds that not all of the plaintiffs had signed the bond. The suit against the trustee of Center township, Chester D. Rhodes, for an injunction will be heard in the next term of court.

BILL IS STILL A POLICEMAN

Officer Who Wanted to Quit Finds City Council Can't do Without Him.

AND PEA IS SMILNG TODAY

City Officials Refuse to Accept His Resignation—Beating His Beat in Same Old Way.

Bill Pea, policeman and detective, is wearing his badge and covering his beat in the west end just as big as life today. Bill is proud and Bill has a right to be. He has a job he can't lose, and that's more than a lot of other people have. Now, honest, if you resigned and your employer refused to let you quit work wouldn't you be happy? Sure you would.

So Bill is happy. It was all this way. Bill handed his resignation to Mayor Cowing Saturday night, and the mayor called a special session of the council last night to accept the resignation. They had the meeting of the council, but not for the purpose it was called. Instead they retained Bill. Let him quit? Never. No-siree! They needed Bill and Bill must work. In his resignation Bill said he had other work which he wanted to take up. Well, it seems that he has made other arrangements about that work. Or it may be that he will do it on the side. Anyway he is still a policeman and he is no busier today than usual. No arrests in the second ward today. But that's not saying there were any last week nor the week before nor the week before that.

Bill is a good hearted soul if he did vote the Democratic ticket. He is willing to change his plan to accommodate the city. And the city needed his services. Or at least that's what the majority of the council thought about it.

The resignation was read to the council and the vote was called for and here's the way they voted:

To accept the resignation—Young and Mull.

To keep Bill on the force—Kelly, Havens and Reynolds.

Yes, it was a bit surprising that the council did not accept the resignation. In fact three members had said they were glad Bill had resigned, and they could accept it. Somehow, one of those votes got lost in the count. But in taking a big vote like that there is often a mistake made. However, everybody seemed satisfied—that is everybody that wanted to keep Bill and that's the way the matter stood.

There were a lot of people surprised today when they found out Bill was still a policeman and that he couldn't lose his job. But those people had not taken into consideration how important Bill's work as a policeman and detective has been. They forgot how many tramps he ran out of town last winter. And then they didn't take into consideration that the public would never have known that the grave in the Concord cemetery was not a grave if it had not been for Bill.

Meanwhile Bill paces his beat with his star shining whenever the sun shines. Bill is smiling and Bill is happy and again—Bill has a right to be.

CRACK OF GUN WILL BE HEARD

Nimrods Will Flock to Fields Tomorrow When Hunting Season is Opened.

MANY LICENSES BEING SOLD

Parties Have Already Gone to Other States and Others Are Being Formed.

The nimrods will flock to the fields in quest of game tomorrow, when the hunting season opens. Some of the more anxious ones are already set and getting on their marks for the first sprint to the woods. Local hunters are plentiful and parties are being formed to invade every nook and corner of Rush county tomorrow. They will perhaps get over the county line, too, in some places.

The hunting party who went to the wilds of Missouri became over anxious and could not wait for the game law to come in this State. The party composed of Ol Walton, Ol Dale, Fred Clevenger and Guy Abercrombie left yesterday for Scott county and expected to arrive there and be ready for action by Wednesday.

Dr. E. F. VanOsdol and Dr. Carl Beher left this morning for Aurora, where they will shoot at everything that looks like game. Dr. P. H. Chadwick, Link Guffin, Stewart Beale and Charles Bassler have formed a party which will go to the southern part of the State next week on a hunting expedition.

Since the first of the month there has been a heavy trade on hunters' licenses. These are all issued through the office of the county clerk, and for the past few days it has kept one man busy most of the time writing applications, the description of the applicant, and then putting the fellow's dollar in the big safe that adorns the east side of the room.

The license this year is identical with that of the past seasons. A complete description is given on the permit of the man taking it out. His height, color of hair and eyes, complexion, his age, any characteristic marks noticeable, etc., are questions that the clerk puts to the man who wants the permit to kill game. If a man has a mole on his nose he must let this fact be known in his license.

The license sells for a dollar, and no matter if you are a large land owner or just a tenant on a farm, the law says that you shall always have this license in your pocket when you go into the field with a dog and gun.

Again, you are liable for trespass if you hunt on another man's farm.

Games is said to be abundant this year, but this is likely not to be any great allurements to the hunter. On the other hand many of the farmers have posted their places, absolutely forbidding hunters to track across them.

PULL; DON'T JERK.

"If there is one business on earth that a quitter should leave alone it is advertising," says John Wanamaker. "To make a success of advertising one must be prepared to stick to it like a barnacle on a boat's bottom. Advertising doesn't jerk; it pulls. It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It is likened to a team of horses pulling a heavy load. A thousand spasmodic jerks will not budge the load, while half the power exerted in steady effort will start it and keep it moving."

LOCAL MEN IN THE CLASS

Knights of Columbus to Have Big Time Sunday.

Local Knights of Columbus are planning to attend the big day at Connersville next Sunday when a large class of candidates will be initiated. LITTLE BEAN CAUSE OF ALL TROUBLE

Dr. L. M. Green Called to Remove Obstruction From Nostril of Small Child.

TAKEN OUT WITHOUT PAIN.

The young child of Mr. and Mrs. Leisure, of West Ninth street, in some way managed to get a bean in one of its nostrils and as a result Dr. Lowell M. Green was called this morning to remove the obstruction. The parents do not know when or how the child performed the trick, but the little bean began to cause trouble this morning. The child complained of its nose and examination showed that it was badly swollen. The bean was removed without much pain.

BANKING HOURS WILL BE CHANGED

Doors Will Open at Eight O'clock and Close at Four After December 13.

A NEW RULE TO BE ENFORCED

After December 13 the banks of Rushville will be open from eight o'clock in the morning until four in the afternoon. An agreement was signed this afternoon by representatives of all the banks in the city and this arrangement was made. At present the banks open at nine o'clock and close at three. It is the intention to make the new rule hard and fast and close when closing time comes.

HAD BIG TIME ELECTION DAY

Clifford S. Lee, Staff Correspondent of the Star League Arrested, Searched and Released.

TERRE HAUTE STAR'S VERSION

Headlines From Extra Indicate White Heat Which Prevailed There on Last Tuesday.

Clifford S. Lee, staff correspondent of the Star league, had an exciting time in the election at Terre Haute last week. Mr. Lee had been in Terre Haute all during the campaign and was working for the Terre Haute Star which was supporting an independent candidate for mayor.

According to the Star that election was exciting—very exciting. And Lee had his share of it. Two newspaper men were arrested and put in jail for carrying concealed weapons. These men were working for the Star. Lee was also arrested, searched, and when it was found that he had no weapons on him he was released. The trouble started when the Independents tried to keep the outsiders back from the ropes in the red light district polling places.

The character of the fight may be seen from the following headlines taken from an extra which the Star put out:

"Don Roberts' Bruisers Control polling place in Red Light District.

Sixth ward scenes the most disgraceful ever noticed in Terre Haute Election.

"Police refuse to take any action.

"Mayor Lyons is a witness, but he only grins and says 'They are all right.'

"Don Roberts Buys votes in Open—Mob swarms into polling place.

"Voters shoved under ropes—Several warrants sworn out against Roberts, but police refuse to serve them."

Mr. Lee tells some interesting experiences he had a week ago today while working for his paper. A Democratic mayor was elected in Terre Haute after one of the most bitter fights ever waged there.

HICKORY NUTS ARE FAST DISAPPEARING

Farmers Are Guarding Their Limited Supply From Small Boys Who Infest the Woods.

INSECT ATTACKS THE BARK

Hickory nuts are very scarce this year, it is said. It is not an easy undertaking to hunt hickory nuts in the county, owing to the fact that the farmers realize that the shellbarks are not so plentiful this season and are jealously guarding their trees from the swarms of small boys who infest the woods in search of these exclusive North American nuts. For some reason, which cannot be explained, the hickory trees are rapidly dying off and disappearing with remarkable rapidity in this section of the country. Farmers attribute this fact to a certain kind of insect which attacks hickory bark, worming their way into the heart of the tall trees and killing them off in large quantities.

REPEATS LAND OFFICE CHARGES

Glavis Writes of Alaska Coal Field Monopoly.

HE ARRAIGNS MR. BALLINGER

Secretary of the Interior Is Again Accused of Failure to Take Steps to Save Immense Beds of Fuel From Fraudulent Entry—Deposed Government Employee Says He Was Removed Unjustly by Mr. Taft.

New York, Nov. 9.—L. R. Glavis, removed in September from the office of chief of field division of the general land office, in an article prepared for Collier's Weekly of Nov. 13 and copyrighted by that publication, says:

"From 1902 to 1909 I was in the field service of the general land office, for the last two and a half years as chief of field division. In September, 1909, I was summarily removed from my position without a formal hearing by Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior, by authorization of the president of the United States. That removal was accompanied by the publication of a letter of the president to Mr. Ballinger. I believe that my removal was unfair. I believe the president's letter was grievously unfair, because in it the president gives weight to a charge against me which I never had the opportunity to see or answer. The president states in his letter that I withheld from him information favorable to my superiors. I do not know of any such information withheld by me, nor am I conscious of doing my superiors injustice. Nevertheless, I should not now make any public statement of the matter were it not still possible to save for the government many thousands of acres of coal lands which I believe the land office may in the near future grant to fraudulent claimants.

Coal Lands of Inestimable Value. "The coal lands of Alaska owned by the government amount to over 100,000 acres. They are the future coal supply of the nation, of almost inestimable value. Possession of them by private individuals means great wealth. A monopoly of them would be a national menace.

"On Nov. 12, 1906, President Roosevelt withdrew all coal lands in Alaska from public entry, but previous to that time there were about 900 claims filed, covering about 100,000 acres, nearly the whole of the coal fields. The law attempts to prevent monopoly of such claims by limiting the amount of each claim and providing that each claimant must take up the land in his own interest and for his own use. This law has been interpreted by the supreme court of the United States to forbid speculating in coal lands before entry, either by dummy entrymen or by previous agreements to consolidate claims after entry. Of these 900 claims to Alaska coal lands, among them the so-called Cunningham group, the majority are fraudulent. [It is asserted that the Guggenheims are seeking a monopoly of the Alaska coal fields.]

"As to the action of the land office on these claims, I assert that the land office ordered the Cunningham claims to patent without due investigation when Commissioner Ballinger knew they were under suspicion; that while in office Commissioner Ballinger urged congress to pass a law which would validate fraudulent Alaska claims; that shortly after resigning from office he became attorney for the Cunningham group and other Alaska claims; that soon after he became secretary of the interior his office rendered a decision which would have validated all fraudulent Alaska claims. A reversal of that decision on every point was obtained from Attorney General Wickersham.

How Glavis Was Dismissed. "I assert that in the spring of 1909 the land office urged me to an early trial of these cases before the investigation was finished and when Secretary Ballinger, as the president has stated, knew that the Cunningham claims were invalid. When I appealed to Secretary Ballinger for postponement he referred me to his subordinates. The department of agriculture intervened. I was superseded in the charge of the cases, and the man who superseded me endorsed by recommendations, and the postponement was granted. Immediately thereafter I made my report on the Cunningham cases to President Taft and was dismissed from the service for insubordination.

"The president has chosen to treat my report as a charge of criminality. I made no such charge, nor do I make it now. The president's letter is a defense of Mr. Ballinger and Mr. Dennett [commissioner of the general land office] from charges not made in my report to him. I was not investigating either Mr. Ballinger or Mr. Dennett, but the Alaska coal cases."

[The forthcoming article in Collier's Weekly is expected to reopen the entire Pinchot-Ballinger dispute over the disposition of public lands. One of the most bitter official controversies ever known in Washington may follow, and the result may be the retirement from office of either Secretary Ballinger or Gifford Pinchot, chief of the forest service.]

UNIDENTIFIED

Body of Unknown Woman Found in River Near Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Nov. 9.—Mystery which has defied the efforts of coroner and police surrounds the identity of a young woman whose body was found in White river, a mile northwest of Broad Ripple, near the Monon trestle, yesterday afternoon.

The young woman's apparel, plainly of fashionable cut, despite its mud and water-soaked condition, is evidence that she was not unaccustomed to the better things of life. The autopsy established the fact that death was caused by drowning. There was no wound on the body and no fracture of the skull. The condition of the body is such as to cause the belief that it had been in the water ten days at least and perhaps a few days longer. The face and features of the young woman are so badly altered that it is doubtful if friends could recognize her.

COL. ASTOR LOSES BEAUTIFUL WIFE

Divorce Was Granted With Much Secrecy.

New York, Nov. 9.—Justice Mills, sitting in the supreme court at New City, N. Y., granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to Mrs. John Jacob Astor. All papers in the case were sealed and the proceedings were carefully guarded. Who was named as co-respondent is not known and probably never will be, although there is a strong rumor that the affair was entirely arranged for and the co-respondent provided so that the persons who were considered at the outset of the action might be paid. Colonel Astor is now touring the West Indies in his yacht.

It is understood that counsel in the case made a preliminary arrangement as to the disposition of the two Astor children and the question of alimony. It has been generally reported that Colonel Astor made a settlement of $10,000,000 in lieu of alimony. Mrs. Astor was a Miss Ava Willing of Philadelphia, and was married to Colonel Astor in 1891. She was famous as a beauty when she married Colonel Astor.

CAUSE FOR GLADNESS

Florence People Put Unusual Warmth Into Welcome For Taft.

Florence, S. C., Nov. 9.—President Taft had an opportunity in this city to see the effect of a practical application of his promises to the south. Florence had been worked up for years over the fact that she had a negro postmaster. The negro had held onto the office for sixteen years and all attempts to have him replaced by a white man had failed until President Taft came in. About a month ago President Taft appointed a white man, and what is more, one who is said to be a Democrat. The people of Florence were bent on showing their appreciation and there have been few southern cities in which Mr. Taft got warmer welcomes.

Wouldn't Let Her Return.

Cincinnati, Nov. 9.—A party of Cincinnati business men started to Washington today to ask the department of commerce and labor to allow Mrs. Kate Steiner, widow of George Steiner, a former Cincinnati business man, to enter this country. Mrs. Steiner is now held at Ellis Island and the emigrant inspectors say she must go back to Ireland because she has injured her ankle and might become a public charge. She recently went to Ireland to remain four months at her former home, and was just returning.

Anxious Treasury Officers.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Two things are giving anxiety to treasury officers. One is the sale of government bonds below par in the past few days, which is the first time this has occurred since 1879. The other is the growing treasury deficit. The Panama 2 per cent bonds have been sold as low as 99 1/2 in the last few days, while the 2 per cent of 1930 were quoted at only 1-16 above par.

Illegal Voting Charged.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 9.—Chancellor Heiskell has granted a temporary injunction restraining the issuance of a certificate of election for Edward H. Crump, who received seventy-one plurality for mayor last Thursday over J. J. Williams. The latter charges illegal voting. The date for argument was not set.

Death of the "Battlefield Angel."

Boulder, Col., Nov. 9.—Mrs. Ella Palmer, familiarly known as "the Battlefield Angel," who organized the hospital corps of the Confederate Army of the Tennessee and remained at its head until the close of the war, is dead here at the age of eighty years.

Convicted of Criminal Libel.

New York, Nov. 9.—Carlo Di Fornaro, cartoonist, who was convicted last week in the court of general sessions of criminally libelling Don Raphael Reyes, a newspaper proprietor of Mexico City, has been sentenced to one year in state's prison.

The American Federation of Labor is in session at Toronto.

FAMILY QUARREL

Led to the Taking of Three Lives in San Francisco.

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—At the ferry station at 5 o'clock last evening a foreign-looking man who had been pacing up and down, rushed up to two women who came from the Sausalito ferry, and fired two shots. Both women dropped. Then he put the pistol to his head, fired again and fell to the sidewalk. The man was Ignace Novikoff, a Russian laborer, and the women he killed were Mrs. T. Scholz and her daughter. The cause of Novikoff's crime was a family quarrel. The younger woman he shot was his wife. His mother-in-law had come from Vineland to take his wife and children away from him, and in sudden fury he determined to kill them both.

THE FOXY ZELAYA

Is He Seeking to Bring About American Intervention?

Bluefields (Wireless to Colon), Nov. 9.—It is reported here that the Nicaraguan forces, acting under orders from President Zelaya, have occupied Costa Rican territory with a view to attacking the rebels. Inquiries have been made to ascertain if this is done with the consent of Costa Rica. Minister Merry of the United States has been notified of this breach of neutrality, as has the state department at Washington. It is believed here that Zelaya is adroitly endeavoring to bring about intervention and to embroil Guatemala and Salvador.

Brown's Costly Rabbit.

Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 9.—Harry Brown, a young farmer living near this city, shot a rabbit, brought it to town and sold it at a grocery store for 10 cents. An hour later he was arrested on the charge of violating the game laws. On a plea of guilty he was fined $5 and costs, amounting to $37.10.

A Valuable Booklet Free.

Any person who will call at F. E. Wolcott's drug store will be given a little booklet written by an eminent authority. Every family has one or more persons who have eczema, pimples, dandruff, ring worm, tettes, prickly heat, hives or some form of skin or scalp disease. This booklet is written in such a plain, simple manner that any person after a perusal of it can tell what is the matter with them and can at once proceed to get a simple home treatment that will destroy the germ life that causes the disease, and in this way effect a complete cure of any form of skin or scalp disease.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

BIG SCANDAL IN SWELL CHURCH

Pennsylvania Town Has a Social Sensation.

PREACHER'S DAUGHTER IN IT

Connected With Her in an Affair Which Has Set the Town of Butler by the Ears Is the Treasurer of the Standard Steel Car Company, Who Is Backed by the Melton Millions—

The Rev. Oler Gives Up Pulpit He Has Occupied For More Than Twenty Years When Revelations Concerning His Daughter Are Made.

Butler, Pa., Nov. 9.—Butler has not had such a sensation since the notorious Biddle brothers were run to earth and killed here some years since, as is now holding it through discoveries in the fashionable First Presbyterian church. Rev. Oler, for more than two decades pastor of the church, has left the pulpit and tendered his resignation. Miss Nell Oler, his twenty-eight-year-old daughter, has been forced before the church session with T. N. Gillespie, one of the town's rich men, both members of the church, and the pair are alleged by the church officers to have made confessions which has set the town by the ears and has forced the church authorities to "discipline" the two. Just what punishment has been meted out to the two persons has not been made public by the church body, but it has not been satisfactory to Mrs. Gillespie, who has demanded her papers as a member of the church because the elders have not sent her husband and Miss Oler from the church forthwith.

Gillespie is treasurer of the Standard Steel Car company, which is backed by the Melton millions. He left Butler some days ago, but his friends say he will return to "face the music."

CAN'T UNDO IT NOW

Bride of an Hour Gave Her Husband Up to the Police.

Youngstown, Ohio, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Pasquale Roman, until Sunday night Miss Elizabeth Andrews, fears the Black Hand will take her life because she betrayed her husband of an hour into the hands of the police Sunday night as a man wanted in Brownsville, Pa., for a murder committed four years ago, and yesterday failed to obtain his release when she learned that she loved him.

Roman is wanted for the slaying of a man in a saloon brawl and a reward of $600 has been offered by the Fayette county authorities.

Mrs. Roman telephoned the police of her husband's identity while she and her husband were awaiting a train to go to Roman's home in Bedford, O. She told the police he forced her to marry him.

Yesterday she sought his release, but Sheriff Johns of Fayette county had arrived and told the police how much wanted Roman was. They told her Roman could not be freed and that he would be hanged if convicted. She upbraided them for disclosing her part of the betrayal and revealed a complete reversal of sentiment.

Pension Office Discloses Dual Life of an Indiana Soldier.

Shelbyville, Ind., Nov. 9.—A pension agent, after an effort of several months, has obtained a pension for Mrs. May Reed of this city. She is to receive $12 a month, with $60 arrearages. An investigation showed that Reed, husband of the woman for whom the pension was obtained, led a dual life for a quarter of a century.

Shortly after his death, Mrs. Reed of Fairview, O., and who was wife No. 2, turned up in this city. She found that he had a wife and children living in this city, but that he had left years ago and had disappeared.

The Ohio woman returned to her home heartbroken, for she believed that she was the only wife of the ex-soldier. It was only after a complete search of the court records at Indianapolis and this city that she abandoned hope of claiming a pension. In the meantime the legal widow of the dead man filed a claim for a pension which was carried through all right.

Fined For "Licking" the Editor.

Laporte, Ind., Nov. 9.—Charles McCrory, who assaulted Dr. Karl Freitag, editor of the Michigan City Times, pleaded guilty in Justice Grover's court in this city and was fined $25 and costs, a total of $40.60, which he paid. It was asserted that McCrory had been hired by others whom Freitag had been "going for" in his paper to "lick" the editor.

Didn't Look Before He Leaped.

Elwood, Ind., Nov. 9.—Frank Boyer, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Boyer, was instantly killed by a Lake Erie passenger train. The boy was stealing a ride on a train, and in jumping off a freight car that was running slowly along a siding, landed in front of a rapidly moving passenger train.

JAPANESE VISITORS TAKE INDIANAPOLIS

Commercial Bodies Welcome Distinguished Foreigners.

Indianapolis, Nov. 9.—The Japanese commission headed by Baron Shibusawa, which is touring the United States for the purpose of getting a line on the commercial and manufacturing methods employed in this country, arrived in Indianapolis at 6 o'clock this morning by special train from Cincinnati.

At 9:30 the members of the party were taken in charge by a committee of the commercial bodies of the city and a day of comprehensive sight-seeing followed, the visitors being shown all points of interest. Incidental to the trip around the city, the visitors were given a cordial reception by Governor Marshall at the statehouse on behalf of the state and by Mayor Bookwalter at the Columbia Club on behalf of the city.

This evening the distinguished visitors will be entertained at a public reception and banquet at the Claypool hotel. Bishop Francis, for seven years a resident of Japan, will give the invocation in the Japanese tongue at the dinner.

COULDN'T RESIST

This Man Felt He Just Had to Commit Bigamy.

Columbus, Ind., Nov. 9.—Awaiting a hearing, Jesse Arbuckle, who was arrested at Danville, Ill., on a charge of bigamy filed by his wife, Mrs. Ella Arbuckle of Edinburg, is now in jail here. When brought here from Danville Arbuckle was taken before a justice of the peace, where he pleaded guilty to the bigamy charge and was bound over to the circuit court under a $300 bond.

Arbuckle says he knew he was violating the law when he married a second time in Brown county recently, but he declares he thought his first wife would never hear of it, and he adds that he could not keep from marrying Miss Settie Palmer, wife No. 2, because he loved her so. However, Arbuckle could not keep the secret, and wrote to wife No. 1, asking her to say nothing about his second marriage. Mrs. Arbuckle hurried to this city and filed an affidavit against him.

HYPNOTIC TEST PROVED FATAL

Tragedy Follows a Theatrical Exhibition.

PROFESSOR'S "SUBJECT" DEAD

During a Public Performance at Somerville, N. J., Prof. Everton Put Robert Simpson Through Certain Stunts, at the End of Which the Subject Collapsed—Taken to a Hospital, All the Efforts of the "Professor" and the Doctors Failed to Restore Life.

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 9.—Robert Simpson was pronounced dead by the staff of the Somerset hospital as the result of being hypnotized by Prof. Arthur Everton of Newark in the Somerville theater here last night. Simpson was hurried to the hospital in an ambulance after Prof. Everton had tried for more than an hour to bring him out of a cataleptic state. Prof. Everton was placed under arrest by Chief of Police Bell and taken before Justice Sutphen, who paroled him in the custody of the police in order that he might go to the Somerset hospital in company with another hypnotist and make another effort to restore Simpson to consciousness.

County Prosecutor Regelon returned from the hospital at midnight and ordered a warrant issued for Prof. Everton on a charge of manslaughter. In his examination before Justice Sutphen Everton stated that he had hypnotized Simpson in Newark a week ago and had since used him as a subject without any ill effects.

Everton put Simpson in a rigid state and, placing his feet on one chair and his head on another, stood on his body. After going through this performance Everton clapped his hands in an effort to restore Simpson. Simpson's eyes rolled in his head, his jaw dropped, he collapsed between the chairs and rolled over on the floor. He was carried to the wings and Everton worked over him until he became exhausted. Three doctors who were in the audience were called back of the stage to assist Everton. Simpson was taken to a hotel near the theater, where the physicians and Everton labored over him for an hour without restoring him. The physicians in the Somerset hospital pronounced Simpson dead at midnight, but Everton and a fellow hypnotist kept working over him in an attempt to bring him to life.

COTTON BULLS ROUTED

The Market Goes to Pieces Under a Flood of Selling.

New York, Nov. 9.—When several options sold off yesterday from 100 to 125 points, James A. Patten and his friends, whose lead on the bull side of cotton was estimated last week at between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000, lost a full third of their hypothetical winnings. Thousands of little fellows were wiped out.

The market opened with a thud. Prices were 22 to 38 points below Saturday's closing. At one time under the call the January option showed 125 points loss from its previous top price. This meant that every little bull who had bought the minimum amount of cotton for which he could get execution, 100 bales, was out $625.

Never, it is said, has the public or Wall street participated more extensively in any cotton movement. The little cotton operators, seeing their paper profits slipping away from them every day, became panicky at the opening and rushed on selling orders from all over the country. The bull leaders stood aside and let them sell. There were fluctuations of 6 or 7 points between sales. Stop orders carried prices still lower. One bull house which has been touting 17 and 20-cent cotton was reported to be demanding $7 a bale margin. Few houses, or none, would take orders at less than $3 a bale, and most wanted $5. The ordinary margin is $3. This demand for more margins and broader ones forced much liquidation. After the first panicky rush was over there came a wave of buying from the Wall street houses and then followed a quick rally of 20 or 25 points, which, however, was not maintained. The market closed steady, about 20 points off.

The Bodies Not Recovered.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—All efforts to find any of the bodies of the five or six persons who met their death in a plunge into the Chicago river in an automobile Sunday night have been in vain. The river has been dragged for blocks. A diver has searched all about the river bed near the place where the automobile dropped into the water without finding anything but the broken and battered machine.

CURES REMOVE DOUBT ABOUT ECZEMA CURE

Read What Your Druggist Says About Oil of Wintergreen.

Druggist Thos. W. Lytle submits the following to the readers of the Daily Republican:

For several years we have announced, with our recommendation, that we had found a positive cure for eczema; a simple skin wash, oil of wintergreen compounded with other healing ingredients.

Yet we know there are people right in this town who have eczema, and still have tried this remedy.

We have therefore arranged with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for a special offer of a trial bottle at 25 cents instead of the $1.00 bottle as regularly sold.

We offer this trial bottle with our recommendation and assurance that just as soon as the patient washes his itching skin, this mild liquid will take the itch away instantly.

Considerable is said about the evils of "white slavery." But what about these American girls of wealth who barter themselves to European titled profligates? The latter is practically as bad as the former, except that it receives social sanction while the former does not.

The St. Louis girl who married a so-called count in the East the other day has made the discovery that his title is a spurious one. At that he cannot turn out worse than many of the foreign noblemen married by American girls, and whose titles are the only things about them free of flaw and blemish.

The phrase "Tell it to the marines," is now being supplanted by a newer one, "Tell it to the Danes." The expression, which is taking New York by storm. Eventually it will come West. It implies incredulity of the one using the phrase. The expression, no doubt, originated on account of the Cook-Pearry controversy, and because Cook insisted on letting the Danes investigate his data first.

John F. Moorman of the Starke County Republican, who is quite a politician, offers this bit of timely advice: Indiana is a Republican State and will elect a full set of State officers, and the majority of the State legislature next year, proving party leaders are willing to be guided by experience. In the first place the will of the people must be respected more than it has been in times past, and factional differences must be laid aside. Unless these two things are done the catastrophe of 1908 is likely to be re-enacted in 1910.

Brazil Times: "Terre Haute has just secured a toy factory employing 250 people. The commercial club of that place has worked for many months for this factory, just as Brazil is working for new factories. It may appear easy to some people to take a bunch of money and go out and get a factory, and it really would be easy, if you were not particular about the kind of a factory you were getting, because the country is overflowing with fellows who are perfectly willing to let any city build them a factory. But the trouble is to get a good, honest company, one that has an established business and a future, and one with ample funds behind it to insure its success. Brazil's factory club has turned down dozens of these propositions of which the people generally know nothing."

Were you ever guilty of thoughtlessness? Of course you were. Everybody has been—in fact is almost every day. But there is one particular kind of thoughtlessness that is causing more or less trouble in this city.

Last Sunday night several young people passed St. Paul's M. E. church just as the Rev. Mr. Turner was starting his sermon. The young people were talking and laughing. They did not notice that they were near a church, or they forgot that services were being held on the inside, or did not think that they were talking as loud as they were. At any rate they were guilty of thoughtlessness. The result was that Mr. Turner had to wait until the young people were reminded that they were disturbing the service. The attention of the congregation was distracted: the minister was bothered; and the effect of the service greatly hindered. And all because some young people were thoughtless. This is not the first instance of the kind, either.

There is no one who believes the young people were wilfully and intentionally disturbing the meeting. But nevertheless the meeting was disturbed. And it was thoughtlessness again. Parents should tell their children about this. If these same young people can not be persuaded to go to church they should at least be persuaded to allow others to enjoy the service. In other words they should be taught to be more thoughtful of the comforts and the pleasure of others.

Get the Want Ad Habit — It Pays

When Should Ambition Cease? Never.

By the Rev. NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS of New York.

THER things being equal, men differ in manhood and success as they differ in ambition. The soul is not self propelling; the soul is a chariot, hurled forward by fiery steeds named MOTIVES AND AMBITIONS.

What inertia is to a stone or log supine contentment is to a man. The bird has its wings, the fish its fins and the deer its legs, and the MAN HAS HIS AMBITIONS.

THE PEASANT WANTS TO BE ADMIRER AND LOVED BY HIS NEIGHBORS, AND WHEN HE REACHES THE HORIZON OF HIS COUNTRY, NINE MILES DISTANT, THERE HIS AMBITION FLAGS, AND HE ALIGHTS LIKE A TIRED BIRD. BUT YONDER VOYAGER FROM GENOA, THAT SOLDIER FROM MACEDON, THAT YOUTH STUDYING RAILWAYS AND PLANNING CONTINENTAL SCHEMES, ARE OUT UPON A WORLD MOVEMENT, AND WHERE THE PEASANT STAYS HIS STEPS AND SINKS DOWN IN CONTENTMENT THE OTHERS RUSH ON TO NEW AND LARGER FIELDS.

How far will the youth go? As FAR AS HIS AMBITION DRAGS HIM. No man's work is ever complete. Yesterday's success and yesterday's victory were milestones, not houses of rest and ease.

Blessed be drudgery, but CURSED BE CONTENTMENT! God did not make men wise or rich or influential. What God did was to send the ANGEL OF AMBITION out to INSPIRE the youth to get wisdom and friends, offices and gold and honor for himself.

BUT THE WISE MAN WILL CONFINE HIS AMBITION TO THE SPHERE SUITED TO HIS BIRTH GIFTS.

Perhaps the children of our day have suffered much through the oft repeated statement that any boy can become governor or president. Out of the twenty million voters of this country only a handful have the birth gift of intellect to master the knowledge requisite; then this handful is winnowed to find those who have a body strong enough to endure the consuming excitements.

Not understanding, therefore, many a youth is AMBITIOUS FOR THE IMPOSSIBLE. The early aspirations of youth are illogical, not founded on self knowledge, but on an undue and exaggerated estimate of his own gifts; therefore the importance of self testing, personal scrutiny and rigid analysis.

AMBITION? YES, BUT BE AMBITIOUS UP TO THE LEVEL OF YOUR PERSONAL GIFTS, HAVING, FIRST OF ALL, GRASPED THE HANDLE OF YOUR OWN BEING.

Women Planning for Meeting in February

The executive committee of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Rush County Farmers' Institute Association desires to call the attention of the women of the county to the fact that the time is come when it is necessary to make arrangements for the annual meeting, to be held February 18th and 19th, 1910.

The constitution says, "The object of this auxiliary shall be to aid and supplement the Farmers' Institute Association in promoting improvements in the art and science of household economies and the development in its members of those house-wifely qualities which characterize the good house-keeper and home-maker. Also to encourage School Girls' Home Culture Clubs."

The annual dues are twenty-five cents a member. Then the society can draw from the county treasury a sum equal to the amount which is raised by membership dues.

Last year the society obtained 113 members, the larger number of whom came from Posey and Anderson townships. The premiums given amounted to $34.50.

This year the society has the opportunity of getting the Domestic Science instructor, who will be in the various district corn schools of the State. But in order to carry out the plans it is necessary to have the needed funds. If twenty women in each township would enroll as members, the society would have enough money to pay all its expenses. Women are urged to see their township vice-presidents and enroll at once.

This committee will meet November 17th at the assembly room. They are expected to have a full report on that date.

The township vice-presidents are: Orange—Mrs. L. A. Wagoner. Anderson—Mrs. Hattie Crosby. Richland—Mrs. Paul Harrison. Noble—Mrs. Orlan Myers. Rushville—Mrs. Amos Blackledge. Walker—Mrs. Sylvia Hodges. Posey—Mrs. Phebe Phillips. Ripley—Mrs. A. B. Norris. Jackson—Mrs. Ed. Caldwell. Center—Mrs. Retherford. Union—Mrs. L. B. Harris. Washington—Mrs. Len Hill. Mrs. E. E. Hungerford is the county secretary.

George Payne and the remainder of the booty was taken in charge by Posey Denning, who was a member of the party. The hunters were Rush Budd, Vincent Young, Posey Denning, Bert Oneil and Dr. F. M. Sparks.

CROWD EXPECTED.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

BRIDE-TO-BE POISONED.

(New Castle Courier.)

Jeanette Dinger, the pretty, brown-eyed girl who was mixed up in the Payne blackmail case some weeks ago, created considerable excitement on East Walnut street Saturday night, where she has been living with Mike Rising and family for a short time. Entering the home Saturday evening she declared she had taken poison and threw herself on the bed. Someone telephoned for doctors and two responded to the call. They made a hasty examination and then gave the young woman a powerful dose of drugs to counteract the poison.

Jeanette and Joe Rising had it all framed up to be married Saturday evening, but according to the story Joe balked. At any rate there was no wedding and Jeanette went back home and told the family she had swallowed poison.

It is not believed that the girl really took anything. She had no symptoms of being poisoned, but the physicians gave her an emetic just the same. When they left she was about as sick as one who had taken poison, but there were no indications that she would be sick very long.

"SOMETHING" SAVES LIFE.

(Connersville News.)

A thrilling and peculiar story comes from the C. H. & D. yards, one in which near-tragedy and premonition are involved, the latter serving to save a human life.

George Jackson, locomotive engineer, was at the throttle of his engine at about three o'clock Sunday morning, and was moving along one of the tracks abounding in the yards at good speed. For some reason that he can not explain satisfactorily to himself, he brought his ponderous locomotive to a halt. There was no good reason why he should stop, he is quoted as saying, for his engine was in good trim. But stop he did.

A yard man passing hurriedly by with a lantern called to Mr. Jackson that he believed there was a man on the track in front. Mr. Jackson got down from the cab, went forward and there, lying across on the rails, dead drunk, was a man. Had the engine traveled the man's length farther, his life would have been crushed out.

Mr. Jackson pulled him from the track and he was taken to his home. He is married and is a member of a well respected family of the city. For obvious reasons his name is not made public, but could he realize how near his debauch brought him to an awful death it might prove a life lesson.

WHISKEY FROM MOTHER.

(Shelbyville Democrat.)

That local option is not having the desired effect of eliminating drunkenness in Shelbyville was demonstrated in the arrest of two men for intoxication Saturday evening, and the presence of a number of others in a drunken condition on the streets of the city the same evening. Is Shelbyville "dry?"

The two men arrested were William Eads and John Allen (colored). Eads was taken in charge by the officers and was being taken to the jail when his brother appeared on the scene and begged the police to release "poor Bill." The brother agreed to take Bill home and the officers were perfectly willing to be relieved of their charge. Eads was repeatedly questioned in regard to where he obtained the liquor for his little spree, but each time refused to tell anything and the police were led to believe that he was not as drunk as they had at first supposed.

No brother rushed to the rescue of John Allen, who was also arrested Saturday night and he was taken on to jail, where he spent Saturday night and Sunday. Monday morning he was brought before 'Squire Vaneleve and entered a plea of guilty to the charge against him. When asked where he obtained his liquor the negro shocked the court by replying that it was given to him by his mother. That sort of a story sounded rather "fishy" to 'Squire Vaneleve and the police, but Allen refused to say anything else regarding the matter. He was given a fine and costs amounting to $33.50. He failed to produce the necessary cash and was sent to jail, but was released Monday afternoon when his mother turned over the amount to 'Squire Vaneleve.

FASHION IS VERY ROUGH ON "RATS"

Says That They Must Not Frequent Old Haunts, and Change is Becoming Noticeable.

CHANGES CONTOUR OF HEAD.

The best rat exterminator that was ever boomed in newspaper print was never half so effective in driving out rodents as has been an edict coming from the fountain of fashion, in driving the so-called "rats" from women's headgear.

Many young women whose heads last week and previously were swelled to enormous size it was seen today had recovered from the affection and appeared more as nature made them and they never had cause to be ashamed of the motherly old dame's handiwork. If the change continues to take shape as rapidly as it has begun, by Thanksgiving the naughty small boy may be tempted to sing out "rats" when the woman with billows of other people's hair and other "stuffin'" appears on the street. It will be so unbecoming, so out of style, don't you know.

Best for the Money

The makers of our shoes haven't any monopoly either on the best leather, the best lasts or the best shoemakers and they don't want you to think so.

They do claim however that our shoes are still the best shoes made for the money and they are proving it daily. Have you ever been shown? Also the same in rubber goods.

KING EDWARD IS 68.

London, Nov. 9.—Edward VII., of Great Britain and Ireland and the British dominions beyond the seas, King, defender of the faith and Emperor of India, today celebrated his sixty-eighth birthday. Guns boomed in a royal salute, brother monarchs sent messages of congratulation and there was general rejoicing, but the spectacular features of the observance were far overshadowed by the celebration of Lord Mayor's Day, which marked the induction into office of Sir John Knill, the Catholic chief executive of London.

Today's pageant in honor of the Lord Mayor was shorn of many of the features familiar in past years. The floats and other spectacles illustrating the ancient history of London were eliminated, and the pageantry took the form of a great military parade. A banquet this evening will be attended by many of the notables of the kingdom.

WANTS HIS MORMON WIFE.

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 9.—John Allen, a gentle who eloped with and married a daughter of Brigham Young, Jr., in September, and whose wife was kidnapped by her mother the next day, has been granted a writ of habeas corpus by the federal court by which Mrs. Young is commanded to produce her daughter in court today. Mrs. Young, backed by a large Mormon community at Farmington, declares she will fight to keep her daughter and Allen apart to the end.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace theater will show a Biograph tonight. It is dramatic film entitled, "The Watcher of the Night." Miss Iva Brown will sing "Come to Me Now." Don Rogers, with spotlight effects will sing "Honeyland."

The Star-Grand offers two very funny comedy pictures tonight. The first is entitled "Papa's Honeymoon." The wedding trip is a most eventful one, as the two boys do not like their new stepmother and they play all kinds of tricks on her and papa. And at the finish the two boys meet their Waterloo, but the fun certainly was worth the licking. The second subject is entitled "Out For the Day." Father, mother and six children prepare for a day's outing. You all know what it means to go to a picnic with six children. One is sure to get lost and many mishaps must be expected. Earl Robertson will sing "My Wife Has Gone to the Country Hooray, Hooray."

The Vaudet has a very interesting and well balanced program to offer tonight in the two subjects, "An Earthquake" and "The Dream." The first picture is comic and is guaranteed to be a laugh producer. All of the fun is supplied by two boys who go to the country for a short outing and they never fail to be in the wrong place at the right time. The other picture is highly entertaining. Don Rogers will sing the illustrated song, "The Heart You Lost in Maryland, You'll Find in Tennessee."

Mr. F. E. Wolcott is pleased to announce that he will continue the agency for ZEMO, the best known remedy for the treatment of eczema, pimples, dandruff, ring worm, prickly heat, tetter, hives or any other form of skin or scalp disease. Last year Zemo made some remarkable cures of chronic cases of skin diseases, and Mr. F. E. Wolcott says ZEMO gives the best results of any remedy he has ever sold for the prompt relief and positive cure of any form of skin or scalp disease. ZEMO is a clean, vegetable liquid for external use, pleasant and agreeable to use. Can be used freely on infants.

MAC GRATH

Copyright, 1908, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.They had ridden up and down the Via Caracciolo twice when they espied a huge automobile, ultramarine blue.
It passed with a cloud of dust and a rumble which was thunderous. Hillard half rose from his seat."Somebody you know?" asked Merri-hew."The man at the wheel looked a bit like Sandford.""Sandford? By George, that would be jolly!""Perhaps they will come this way again, Tomass, follow that motor."Sure enough, when the car reached the Largo Vittoria it wheeled and came rumbling back. This time Hillard had no doubts. He stood up and waved his arms. The automobile barked and groaned and came to a stand.

"Hello, Sandford!"

"Jack Hillard, as I live, and Dan Merrihew! Nell, turning to one of the three pretty women in the ton-neau, "what did I tell you? I felt it in my bones that we would run across some one we knew."

"Or over them," his wife laughed.

When we meet an old friend in a foreign land, one who has accepted our dinners and with whom we have often dined, what is left but to fall on his neck and weep? There was, then, over this meeting much ado with handshaking and compliments, handshaking and questions, and, as in all cases like this, every one talked at once—how was old New York, how was the winter in Cairo, and so forth and so on—till a policeman politely told them that this was not a private thoroughfare and that they were blocking the way. So they parted, the two young men having promised to dine with the Sandford party that evening."What luck, Dan?" Hillard was exuberant.

"Saves you the price of a dinner."

"I wasn't thinking of that. But I shall find out all about her tonight."

"Who?"

"The lady in the fog, the masquerading lady!"CHAPTER IX.
A TANGLED SKEIN.SANFORD knew how to order a dinner, and so by the time that Merrihew had emptied his second glass of Burgundy and his first of champagne he was in the haze of golden confidence. He would find Kitty, and when he found her he would find her heart as well."Say, Jack," said Sandford, "what did you mean by that fool cable anyhow?"Hillard had been patiently waiting for an opening of this sort. "And what did you mean by hoaxing me?"

"Hoaxing you?"

"That's the word. I was in your house that night. I was there as surely as I am here tonight."

"Nell, am I crazy or is it Jack?"

"Sometimes," said Mrs. Sanford.

"When you put the chauffeur in the tonneau I'm inclined to think that it is you."Hillard looked straight into the placid gray eyes of his hostess. Very slowly one of the white lids drooped. His heart bounded.

"But really," continued Sandford seriously, "unless you bribed the caretaker you could not possibly have entered the house. You have been dreaming.""Very, well, then. It begins to look as if I had." It was apparent to Hillard that Sandford was not in his wife's confidence in all things. He also saw the wisdom of dropping the subject while at the table.They took coffee and liqueur in the glass inclosed balcony. Hillard found a quiet nook not far from the lift. He saw that Mrs. Sandford's chair was placed so that she could get a good view of the superb night. He sat down himself, sipped his liqueur med-itatively, drank his coffee and as she nodded lighted a cigarette."Well?" she said, smiling into his brown eyes. She was rather fond of Hillard, a gentleman always and one of excellent taste. There was never any wearisome innuendo in his wit nor suggestion in his stories."You deliberately winked at me," he began.

"I deliberately did."

"Sandford is in the dark. I suspect ed as much."

"Regarding the wink?"

"Regarding the mysterious woman who occupied your house by your express authority and who rode the hunter in the park.""Was there ever a more beautiful picture?" sweeping her hands toward the city."The beauty of it will last several hours yet. Who and what wasFor CatarrhMedicine Free in Every Case Where It Fails to Relieve.Neglect or pessimism, we believe, is the greatest enemy the public has to contend with when applied to the loss or recovery of health. Practically every case of consumption might have been cured if hope had been maintained and proper treatment had been resorted to at the first symptoms of the disease. Until the advanced stage is reached consumption is curable. Catarrh is re-cases of consumption. It is about catarrh we want to talk to you today, incidentally consumption, since the two are so closely allied.We have a medicine made from a prescription of one of the most successful catarrh specialists known.

We believe it is positively without an equal. We are so satisfied that we are right, that we will supply the medicine free in every instance where it is used according to directions for a reasonable length of time, should it fail to give satisfaction in every particular. We want every one to try this medicine at our risk. There are no conditions attached to our offer. We put the user under no obligation to us whatever.The medicine we want you to try is Rexall Mucu-Tone. It is a catarrh remedy that goes direct to the seat of trouble. It is carried by the blood to every part of the system. It purifies and enriches the blood, tones up the mucous cells, and brings about a condition of health and strength that tends to prevent the germs of consumption from getting a start. Besides this, Rexall Mucu-Tone is a wonderful appetizer, digestive aid and flesh builder. Its good effects are often felt from the very first dose. It is one of the largest and most satisfactory selling medicines that we have ever had anything to do with.We know so much of the great good that it has done that we personally back it up with our reputa-

"Yes. So begin with your side of it."

He was a capital story teller. He recounted the adventure in all its color—the voice under his window, the personals in the paper, the interchange of letters, the extraordinary dinner, the mask in the envelope. She followed him with breathless interest."Charming, charming!" She clapped her hands. "And how well you tell it!
You have told it just as it happened.""Just as it happened!" confounded for a moment."Exactly. I have had a letter—two, in fact. You did not see her face?""Only the chin and mouth. But if I by her teeth."

"Heavens! And how?"

"Two lower ones are gone. Other-

"Certainly I have not said so."

He flicked the ash from his cigaalways. Yes, she spoke of you. She found you to be an agreeable gentle-did not say that she wished she had met you years ago under more favorable circumstances.""Come, give me the death stroke and have done with it. Tell me what you dare, and I'll be content with it."She opened her handkerchief purse and delved among the various articles therein."I expected that you would be asking questions, so I am prepared. I did not tell my husband for that very reason.

He would have insisted upon knowing everything. Here, read this. It is only a glimpse."He searched eagerly for the signature."Don't bother," she said. "The name cannot be written. You ask about the adventure. Puff goes my little dream of greatness. It was a blank failure. The officials put unheard of obstacles in our path. The contracts were utterly disregarded. In the first place, we had not purchased our costumes and scenery in Italy."Costumes and scenery?" Hillard sought the signature again.The base of all the trouble was a clerk in the consulate at Naples. He wrote us that there would be no duties on costumes and scenery. Alas, the manager and his backer are on the way to America, sadder and wiser men! We surrendered our return tickets to the chorus and sent them home. The rest of us are stranded —is not that the word?—here in Venice, waiting for money from home. If I were alone, it would be highly amusing, but these poor people with me! There is only one way I can help them, and that never!

You recollect that my personal income is quarterly, and it will be two months before I shall have funds. There are persons moving heaven and earth to find me.
My companions haven't the least idea who I am. So here we all are, wandering about the Piazza San Marco, eating at Cook's every day in hopes of money. I am staying with my maid in the Campo
Santa Maria Formosa, near our beloved Santa Barbara. I have guaranteed the credit of my companions, and they believe that Venetians are generous people. Generous! Perhaps you will wonder how I dared appear on the stage in Italy. A black wig and a theatrical makeup—these were sufficient. A duke sent me an invitation to take supper with him, as if I were a ballerina! I sent one of the American chorus girls, a little minx for mischief. She ate his supper and then ran away. I understand that he was first.
Only a few months more, Nell, and then I may come and go as I please. Come to Venice.

We will give away absolutely FREE on New Years Day, 1910, a fine KURTZMAN Upright Piano to the Church Society, Fraternal Organization, Club or Individual, securing the greatest total value in coupons issued by the above named merchants, prior to Dec. 25, 1909. This Piano is recognized as one of the finest instruments made, having in its construction the very best of material and workmanship. More than 5000 KURTZMANN Pianos are now in use in Indiana and for over sixty years its popularity has gradually increased until today the "Old Reliable" KURTZMANN is the most talked of piano in the State. The one to be given away is richly designed in fancy mahogany, and has compartment bench to match.

The sole purpose of this progressive enterprise is to stimulate trade, promote a spirit of co-operation, and to encourage the people of Rush County to buy of home merchants.

Coupons will be issued by the above named firms to every customer for the amount of goods bought. The sum total of these coupons issued by the merchants, will determine the person or organization to which the Piano will be awarded. All coupons must be deposited with T. W. Lytle, Sec'y., or any member of the association, on or before Dec. 28, 1909, who in turn, will submit them to a committee of three Rushville Bankers, who will award the Piano to the person or organization sending in coupons representing the greatest amount of purchases.

The above piano was furnished by S. E. Secoy, local representative for the Kurtzmann Piano

BIG TIM'S TALK TO THE BOWERY

Senator Sullivan's Denial of White Slave Traffic Charges.

DEFENDS VIRTUE OF WOMEN.

Popular Leader In Speech to His Constituents Denounces With Emotion
Many New York Mayoralty Campaign Statements as Cruel Lies.

Former Congressman Timothy D. Sullivan of New York, now state senator, who is known in his Bowery district as "Big Tim," stood before an enthusiastic crowd of his constituents in Miner's Bowery theater the other night and, with tears running down his big face at times, answered the charges that were made in New York's recent mayoralty campaign against the methods of the Sullivan clan, of which he is the leader, and, with his voice shaking with emotion, denied that he ever had knowledge of, much less countenanced, such a thing as is known as the white slave traffic. He said: "The trouble with the reformers is that they don't know our traditions down here. That's why they think because I've got a little money there must be something wrong, that I must be getting money in some crooked way or I wouldn't stay here. I'll tell you why I stay here.

"I was born in poverty, one of six children, four boys and two girls. The boys used to sleep in a three-quarters bed, not big enough for two, and the girls in a shakedown on the floor. Some nights there was enough to eat and some nights there wasn't. And our old mother used to sing to us at night, and maybe it would be next day before we would think that she had been singing, but that she had gone to bed without anything to eat.

Thieves From Necessity.

"That's the kind of people we come from, and that is the kind of mothers that bore us down here. If we can help some boy or some father to another chance we are going to give it to them. The thieves we have down here ain't thieves from choice. They are thieves from necessity, and necessity don't know any law. They steal because they need a doctor for some dying one or they steal because there ain't any bread in the house for the children.

"There's something here written by a gentleman named Turner. He's not so bad, even if he has been writing horrible stuff, but I can't say as much for the people who have been paying him. I've been looking Turner up. He's got three children and a wife, and they might have been starving, and a man who has children starving will do anything.

"Now we come to the last of all—the white slave talk. My God! They have put me in between thieves, and I'm not the first man who has been pilloried between thieves! I've been living here all my life, and I never knew a man engaged in this business, and I won't stand for this. I am not going to say anything, but this man Turner had better keep out of this district.

Advises Mr. Whitman.

"I've never professed to be more than the average man. I don't want you to think I'm very good, for I've done a lot of wrong things. I'm just an average man, but I've told you of that old mother of mine, what she did for me, and I want to say here before you all that there is no man on earth who believes in the virtue of women more than I do.

"Whitman says he believes in these things, and he says that when he is elected district attorney he is going to start an office on the east side. He don't have to do that. He'd better start one up by the Union League club and get after the people who's trying to form blind pools and who meet there to shove up the price of meat a cent or two a pound.

How He Began to Give Away Shoes.

"We do enough bad things, and when we do good things they hadn't ought to be distorted so they will seem bad. Fourteen years ago I began giving Christmas dinners and shoes away to the poor. Some one has said the Sullivans give the people a little turkey and a pair of shoes and rob them the rest of the year. As I'm the Sullivan that does this they must mean me, and I'm going to tell you how I got that idea of giving away shoes.

"It was way back in 1873, and a boy named Sullivan was going to the Elm street school, and there was a Miss Murphy who was a teacher. This boy had an old pair of shoes, and one day she asked the boy to stay after school. He thought some other boy had done something and put it up to him, and he was going to stand for it. So he said, 'Miss Murphy, if I've done anything let me know, because I want to get away and sell papers,' and she told the boy he hadn't done nothing and gave him an order. That order was to Timothy Brennan, brother of a big Tammany leader, and he gave me an order for a pair of shoes. I needed them shoes then, and I thought if I ever got any money I would give shoes to people who needed them, and I'm going to buy shoes for people just as long as I live. And all the people on earth can't stop me from doing what I think is right by calling me names."

WE OUGHT TO LIVE 150 YEARS

So Says Professor Fisher, Expert on Longevity.

$250,000,000,000 OUR VALUE

Yale Statistician Gives That Figure as Worth of Lives to the Nation—Prussia Far Ahead of Us in the Matter of Conserving Life.

Human life is increasing in length at a very rapid rate, but the span will have to go on increasing for a long time before it becomes even normal, for the human being ought to live to about 150 years if he did himself justice, says Professor Irving Fisher of Yale in a remarkable study which has just been issued by the national conservation commission. The commission believes that the greatest asset of society is human life.

Professor Fisher in a book of 120 pages says that after most careful study of vitality and health statistics he concludes that about 350 years ago the average span of life began to increase, and it has been gaining ever since. At the end of the seventeenth century the average life was about four years longer than at its beginning. At the end of the eighteenth another four years had been added to the average. Then came the nineteenth with its great strides in science in all departments. In the first three-quarters of that century the average length of life increased at the rate of about nine years to the century.

Prussia Far Ahead of Us.

But in the last generation the increase has been faster than ever before. In Massachusetts the average length of human life is now increasing at the rate of about fourteen years per century. Yet Massachusetts is not making so good a record as is presented for Europe, as a whole, where the present increase is at the rate of seventeen years in a century. Prussia, the land of greatest advance in medical, surgical and hygienic science, is increasing its average longevity at the rate of twenty-seven years per century.

Professor Fisher quotes the result of Metchnikoff's investigations to sustain the contention that a normal age for men should be about 150 years. Metchnikoff found that mammals generally lived about five times the period devoted to growing. The one exception is man. The growing period of man is about thirty years. Therefore if he should lengthen his life up to the average of other mammals it would be about 150 years. Professor Fisher does not think that 150 years will be by any means an impossible attainment when the unexplored possibilities of science, sanitation and social betterment are developed.

Century and Half Not Impossible.

The present average age at which people die of old age after having been fortunate enough to dodge automobiles, diphtheria, tuberculosis, hunger and the other causes of death is stated as eighty-three years.

The economic value of human life and the advantage to the social whole in increasing its length are discussed most entertainingly by Professor Fisher. He points out that the sustaining of youth and old age is a tremendous onus on the producing capacity of society. As civilization becomes more complex a longer period must be given to preparation for the real work, consequently there is need for a compensating length of the period within which the individual, having thus been prepared at the social expense, may work for society in order to repay its investment in him.

Professor Fisher summarizes the various statistical estimates that have been made of the economic value of a human life. The American nation is credited with the ownership of $107,000,000,000 worth of property, but Professor Fisher reaches the conclusion that the human beings are economically worth somewhat more than $250,000,000,000 more in addition to this.

How a Life Grows In Value.

In the first year of existence the economic value of a life is only $90, because the infant life involves the great burden of the long preparation for a period of producing usefulness. From this year on the average value of a life increases until it reaches its maximum at thirty years, when it is $4,200 for the average American life. At that age the period of preparation is past, the time of greatest producing capacity is fairly being entered, and the expectation of life is large.

Every immigrant coming into this country is worth $875, says Professor Fisher. That is the minimum figure, representing the labor value. The arrival of 1,000,000 immigrants adds to the wealth of the nation $875,000,000.

Takes Snapshots of Microbes.

Before the Paris Academy of Sciences Jean Comandon announced recently the discovery of a new method of photographing bacilli by the combined use of an ultramicroscope and a cinematograph. The discovery is considered of first importance, opening as it does a new field for the study of microbic action.

How many things, both just and unjust, are sanctioned by custom!—Terence.

There isn't anything so annoying or so painful nor is there anything quite so hard to get rid of as piles. Manzan, the great pile remedy, is the best you can use, for it directly reaches the seat of the trouble and at once relieves and soothes pain. It is applied by means of a tube with nozzle attached. Sold by Lytle's Drug Store.
